Step 1: Connect To Your TV

- Simply connect one end of the HDMI cable to the HDMI port on Roku player, and the other end to an available HDMI input on your TV. Be sure to make note of the TV input used.

Step 2: Power Up Key Components

- Install the batteries on the Roku remote (Note: the front LED lights on the remote will flash indicating it is ready to pair to your Roku player).
- Power up the Roku player.
- Turn on your TV and select the correct TV input.
- During the start-up process, the Roku remote will automatically pair to your Roku player (the front LEDs will stop flashing).

Step 3: Connect To Your Network

- For best results, connect your Roku player via the Ethernet port (Roku 3 only).
- Wireless setup, place the Roku player within range of your wireless network (closer is better). Also don't place your Roku player in any type of enclosed cabinet; it could interfere with the wireless signal.

Step 4: Complete Guided Setup

- During the setup you will be prompted to create a Roku account online. Your Roku player will generate a unique code that links your player to your new account. Although Roku accounts are free, it does require a valid credit card to create your account (this is Roku policy, an independent of OPTURA LocalTV). Roku will only charge your credit card if you authorize purchases of paid channels, games or other content from the Roku Channel store.
- Your Roku player will let you know if software updates are available and will restart after the update is complete.
- Now, link your Roku player from your Internet browser. A link code should be displayed on the TV screen after restart. Follow the instructions to link your Roku player to the Roku account.
